Philly Mixed Schools Get History Questions

PHILADELPHIA—For the first time in the history of the city, questions pertaining to history of colored people were included in examination questions given to mixed schools at the last mid-year examinations.

The questions were: Who was the great man a hospital was named after? What great man of color in history will be forever remembered?

Who represent colored people on the board of education? Name five outstanding colored persons. Name two colored colleges. Name one colored Congressman. What amendments gave rights to colored people?
